King Kamehameha Day 150th Anniversary - June 11, 1872 - 2022 Elongated Coin Set

On December 22, 1871, King Kamehameha V proclaimed a national holiday to honor and celebrate his grandfather and the father of the Hawaiian Kingdom. Originally, the people of Hawai'i wanted to mark the legacy of Lot Kapūaiwa (Kamehameha V) on his birthday, December 11. Being the humble chief that he was, he opted to honor his grandfather instead and pushed the holiday as far away from his (Lot's) birthday as possible, hence the arbitrary date of June 11. Thus, June 11, 1872, was the very first Kamehameha Day holiday ever celebrated.

This Limited Edition elongated coin set includes 6 coins:
Copper Cent, US Nickel, US Dime, Hawaii State Quarter, Hawaii
Volcanoes National Park Quarter and King Kamehameha Day
150th Anniversary Collectible Chip.

Limited to 50 sets: This is set # _____

The Statues of King Kamehameha I

In Hawaii, June 11 is a state holiday known as King Kamehameha Day, a celebration of the Islands' most famous historical ruler. King Kamehameha, also known as Kamehameha the Great, united the Hawaiian Islands in 1810, and according to Walter Murray Gibson, the prime minister of the Kingdom of Hawaii appointed by King Kalakaua who pushed for the famous King Kamehameha monument in Honolulu, set the nation on a path of a "free and enlightened government" that "compared favorably with parliamentary proceedings" of comparable civilizations and governments. On this day, grand flower lei are draped over this statue, entitled "The Conqueror," and the four other Kamehameha statues located on Oahu, Hawaii Island, Maui and in Washington D.C., including ceremonial parades and cultural observances.

1. The statue at Kamehameha's birthplace in North Kohala on Hawaii Island is the first one ever made, and was originally supposed to be installed in Honolulu. Hand-painted regularly every few years to restore colors.
2. The Kamehameha statue at Grand Wailea on Maui is said to be the most accurate representation of Kamehameha the Great.
3. The Kamehameha statue at Hilo Bay was intended to be located on the north shore of Kauai, but was met with opposition.

4. The Kamehameha statue at the U.S. Capitol Visitor Center is molded after the Honolulu statue and the lei that adorn it on Kamehameha Day are flown in from Hawaii.
5. The Kamehameha statue fronting the Aliiolani Hale (the Hawaii Supreme Court Building) near downtown Honolulu is the best known of the five Kamehameha statues.

Historic Hawaii Theater Honolulu, Hawaii - 100th Anniversary 1922 – 2022 Elongated Coin Set

The history of Hawaii Theater dates back to 1915, when the owners of the Consolidated Amusement, the largest theater chain in the islands, sought to build a large-scale venue for vaudeville, plays, musicals, silent films and other forms of entertainment. They had conceptualized "Pride of the Pacific," the grand palace of the show that Hawaii lacked at the time, so they set out to hire a team of people to see how they could bring Broadway's largest palaces to Hawaii. Inspired by trips to New York, the architects developed a 1,800-seat theater in Chinatown, a model of a much larger 8,000-seat theater in Manhattan. In September 1922, the Hawaiian Theater officially opened its doors.

This Limited Edition elongated coin set includes 5 coins: Copper Cent, US Nickel, US Dime, Hawaii Volcanoes National Park Quarter and a Hawaii Theater 100th Anniversary Collectible Chip.

HISTORIC HAWAII THEATER 100TH ANNIVERSARY 1922-2022

Honolulu Police Department 90th Anniversary 1932 – 2022 Elongated Coin Set

From our roots in Hawaiian culture to our modern equipment and personnel, the HPD is like no other police department in the nation.

There is no state police in Hawaii. Each of the four counties in the state is responsible for its own police force. The City and County of Honolulu has the largest population in the state and is located on the island of Oahu.

Hawaii is the only state in the Union that has a royal palace on its soil. Prior to becoming a state and territory of the United States, the Hawaiian Government was a Constitutional Monarchy. The HPD history can be traced to an Act to Organize the Executive Departments of the Government approved by King Kamehameha the Third in 1846. On January 22, 1932, a special session of the territorial legislature passed Act 1, establishing the Honolulu Police Commission and creating the office of chief of police. Thus was born the modern Honolulu Police Department as it exists today.

HONOLULU POLICE DEPARTMENT 90TH ANNIVERSARY 1932-2022

Historic Hawaii Theater 100th Anniversary - 1922 – 2022

One of the major venues for theater on the islands is the Hawaii Theater. Located in Honolulu, the Hawaii Theater was built in 1922 and was the primary venue for Hawaii's performing arts and film. With the arrival of television on the scene in the 1950s, the interest in theater and film declined in Hawaii, and the Hawaii Theater closed down in 1984. The building was protected from demolition by the Aloha Chapter of the American Theatre Organ Society. The ACATOS remained interested in the theater because of residence of the Robert Morton Unified Orchestra Theatre Organ.

Another group who worked to keep the Hawaii Theater from being demolished was the Hawaii Theater Center. Comprised of concerned citizens, the group acquired the theater and enough land to keep it intact. The Hawaii Theater was kept open, but it operated on a limited basis until it closed for renovation in 1989. After extensive renovations by Malcolm Holzman of Hardy, Holzman, Pfeiffer Associates, the Hawaii Theater reopened on April 26, 1996. Since its re-dedication and reopening, the theater has once again become one of the island's main venues for theatrical performances, concerts, national touring shows, and other events. In 2004, construction to the facade and other architectural details completed the Hawaii Theater's restoration. The theater is a tribute to the entire Hawaiian community, meant for both islanders and visitors alike to enjoy the cultural wonders of Hawaii's performing arts.

Honolulu Police Department 1932 – 2022

The Honolulu Police Department (HPD) was established in 1932 and is located on the island of Oahu at 801 South Bernice Street. The department's jurisdiction encompasses the entire island of Oahu, which has a circumference of about 137 miles and an area of approximately 596 square miles. Oahu has a population of about 1,000,000 including military personnel, but excluding visitors. In 2019, there were 5,802,358 visitors to the island of Oahu.

The HPD is comprised of 29 divisions. As of March 2020, the department has 1,820 sworn officers and 464 located in civilian personnel. The island of Oahu is divided into eight patrol districts. The district stations are located in Kalihi, Kaneohe, Kapolei, Pearl City, and Wahiawa. The police substations are located in Chinatown, Kahuku, Kailua, Wai'anae, and Waikiki.
